Hej, jag heter Jess,

I am incredibly excited about the idea of joining your family for an international exchange experience in Sweden! I am eager to immerse myself in the Swedish culture, learn the language and build lasting connections with you and your community. I would like to tell you a little about myself, my ambitions for studying in Sweden and what I hope to contribute to your family's life. Music has always been an important part of my life, from dance as a young child to instrumental learning. I play the clarinet, violin and piano. I enjoy many different genres of music, from classical composers like Tchaikovsky and Mendelssohn to contemporary artists like Taylor Swift, Reneé Rapp, and Chappell Roan. I also enjoy collaborating with like-minded peers and often perform with orchestras and bands both at my school and in the community. Besides music, I enjoy reading, especially fantasy, classics, and romance novels. Some of my favourite authors are Oscar Wilde, Donna Tartt and Fyodor Dostoevsky. I love a good debate and have found many friends through programs such as state debating and Youth Parliament. Cooking and baking are also some of my favourite hobbies, and I enjoy helping with dinner when I can and making sweet treats for my friends and family.

At school, I am passionate about maths and science, with a particular interest in chemistry and biology. I have a small but close-knit group of friends who I socialise with both in and out of class. In the future, I am thinking of going to university to study either medicine and biomedical science or aeronautics. My family plays a large role in my life, and I am lucky to be surrounded by those that are loving and supportive. We run a family-run café located in a bookshop in our city. This is where I work and have gained valuable experience in managing many different responsibilities, from front-of-house duties to coffee making. Outside of work, we enjoy spending time together outdoors, whether it's taking walks in the bushland or enjoying a refreshing swim in the warmer months.

During my time in Sweden, I am eager to explore the Swedish culture, traditions, language, and lifestyle. The thought of trying new things, exploring new places and building meaningful connections with people from different backgrounds fills me with excitement. Sweden's history, innovation, landscape, and commitment to sustainability have always fascinated me, and I am excited to experience these aspects first-hand. With a brother, three adorable cats, and a family business, I understand the dynamics of family life and the importance of mutual respect, understanding and cooperation. I am a responsible, adaptable, and open-minded person who values respect. Growing up in Australia, I have been exposed to different cultures and perspectives, which has shaped me into a respectful and empathetic person. I am keen to share my own culture with you and learn more about yours. In the house, I am more than happy to help with daily chores, share stories about my life in Australia and participate in family activities. I am also excited to learn Swedish cooking and share some of my favourite Australian dishes with you!

Kind regards, Jess
